Last Ride On Pocahontas

For these kindergarten pupils of Mrs. Byron B. Cole (above) their first ride on the Norfolk and Western "Pocahontas" train may be their last opportunity for a long time to take a train ride. The Pocahontas, a passenger train between Norfolk and Cincinnati, will take its last run April 30 – May 1 when all passenger service will be taken from the N&W. These youngsters had picnic dinner Thursday afternoon, April 15, at the Oxford Wayside, then caught the 12:10 p.m. train from Lynchburg to Appomattox. Next year will be Mrs. Cole's 8th as a private kindergarten instructor. Her young friends this year include Phillip Agee, John Booker, Rick Caldwell, Jonnie Canada, David Coffey, Cheryl Cheatham, Patricia Chandler, Chad Deavers, Kim Drinkard, Jeff Elder, John Gaskill, Anita Harvey, Lisa Lea, Greg Mayberry, Kim Maxwell, Kim McGrath, Nancy Morris, Phillip Peyton, Sheila Shorter, Blair Smith, Jay Stewart and Jay Whitehead. A visitor Thursday was Kevin Martin.

Celebrating 88th Birthday

John H. Laughon, (above), of Stonewall District, celebrating his 88th birthday Wed., April 21, demonstrates the action of an old time hay rake. There's an oldtimer in background. Mr. Laughon still farms 44 acres of the original 312 acres he has owned for almost 50 years. Since his wife's death, he has kept house for himself in a home much older than this active, alert octogenarian. Mr. Laughon was the first man to work on Pedlar Dam (1904) on Pedlar River which still furnishes Lynchburg toost of its water supply. There were only mules for hauling and steam power from wood fired boilers for derricks on the gigantic project, he says. When his son John D, or daughters Landis Kolfeldt, or Mackie Farley come to visit there are still photographs of that Pedlar project to see plus a home full of pictures and memories. Mr. Laughon, oldest member of Trinity United Methodist Church, will probably take home several prizes as usual on Father's Day, for "oldest father present" and other categories. His friends and neighbors might also consider another award for a gentleman who knows how to live each day to its fullest.
